3.6.3 Method

Once a proposal has been accepted as eligible, the RRC will evaluate it using a Weighted Matrix method. A sample matrix is shown in Figure 1 below. The weight indicates each criterion's relative importance in determining the successful Bidder. Proposals will be evaluated against each criterion using a scoring scale from 0 to 5, with the resulting score then being multiplied by the assigned weight to give a Result. The Results are summed up to give a Total Score for the evaluation. The RRC will assign scores at its sole discretion.

Item	Criteria	Weight	Score	Result
1	Financial Proposal	40	3.5	140
2	Overview of Proponent's Financial Credibility	30	5	150
3	Intended Use of Space	20	5	100
4	References	10	3	30
	TOTAL	100	N/A	420

In this sample, the vendor would have scored four hundred and twenty (420) out of a possible total of 500. This Total will be compared against all other submissions, with the Proposal with the highest Total being deemed the Winning Proposal.

The RRC recognizes that “Best Value” is the essential part of purchasing a product and/or service and therefore the RRC may prefer a Proposal with a lower price, if it offers greater value and better serves the RRC’s interests, as determined by the RRC, over a Proposal with a higher price. The RRC’s decision shall be final.

The RRC may, at its sole discretion, invite one or more Proponents for an interview or request further clarification to address any questions relating to their Proposal(s). Proponents will be responsible for any costs associated with the preparation for, and attendance at the interview to take place at a specified location in Fort McMurray, Alberta. The RRC may, at its sole discretion, select the format for the interview (i.e. in-person, telephone, video-conference, etc.)

The RRC may, if necessary, re-evaluate and adjust the previously determined scores based on the results of the interview(s).
